Prior to this Issue, there has been no public market for our Equity Shares. Guinness Securities Limited is acting as Designated Market Maker for the Equity Shares of our Company. The trading price of our Equity Shares might also decline in reaction to events that affect other companies in our industry even if these events do not directly affect us. Each of these factors, among others, could materially affect the price of our Equity Shares. There can be no assurance that an active trading market for our Equity Shares will develop or be sustained after this Issue, or that the price at which our Equity Shares are initially offered will correspond to the prices at which they will trade in the market subsequent to this Issue. For further details of the obligations and limitations of Market Makers please refer to the section titled "General Information - Details of the Market Making Arrangement for this Issue" on page 28 of this Prospectus.

The BSE may not inform us of the percentage limit of the circuit breaker in effect from time to time and may change it without our knowledge. This circuit breaker will limit the upward and downward movements in the price of the Equity Shares. ## SECTION III: INTRODUCTION

INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

THE INDIAN ECONOMY

India is the fourth largest economy in the world after the European Union, United States of America and China in purchasing power parity terms, with an estimated Gross Domestic Product ("GDP") (purchasing power parity) of U.S.$ 4.46 trillion in 2011 (Source: CIA World Factbook 2011). Economic indicators suggest that slowdown has continued in 2012-13. However, recent policy reforms should help in arresting the downturn. They may, on their successful implementation, support recovery later. The potential growth rate of the Indian economy that peaked around the middle of 2007-08, has since continued its downward slide into Q1 of 2012-13 to around 7.0 per cent. With negative output gap persisting, growth in 2012-13 is likely to fall short of the Reserve Bank's earlier projection. (Source: RBI, Macroeconomic and Monetary Developments, Second Quarter Review, 2012-2013).

THE REAL ESTATE SECTOR IN INDIA

The real estate sector in India is mainly comprised of the development of residential housing, commercial buildings, hotels, restaurants, cinemas, retail outlets and the purchase and sale of land and development rights. The real estate and construction sectors play an important role in the overall development of India's core infrastructure.

EVOLUTION OF THE REAL ESTATE SECTOR IN INDIA

The real estate sector in India has evolved over the years, accompanied by various regulatory reforms. In the past, factors such as the absence of a centralized title registry providing title guarantee, lack of uniformity in local laws affecting real estate and their application, the unavailability of bank financing, high interest rates and transfer taxes and the lack of transparency in transaction values led to inefficiencies in the sector. However, in recent years, the real estate sector in India has exhibited a trend towards greater efficiency and transparency due to the various laws and regulations that have been implemented to govern the sector. The trend has contributed to the development of more reliable indicators of value and has triggered investment in the real estate sector by domestic and international financial institutions. This has also resulted in greater availability of financing for real estate developers. Regulatory changes permitting FDI are expected to further facilitate investment in the Indian real estate sector. The nature of the demand for real estate is also changing, with heightened consumer expectations that are influenced by higher (and growing) disposable incomes, increased globalization and the introduction of new real estate products and services.

KEY CHARACTERISTICS OF THE REAL ESTATE SECTOR IN INDIA

The Indian real estate sector has traditionally been dominated by a number of small regional players with relatively low levels of expertise and/or financial resources. Historically, the sector has not benefited from institutional capital and has instead utilized high net-worth individuals and other informal sources of financing as its major source of funding, leading to low levels of transparency. This has changed with growth in the sector and reflects consumer's expectations of increased quality as India becomes more closely integrated with the global economy. Some of the key characteristics of the Indian real estate sector are:

- Highly fragmented market dominated by regional players: Rapid growth in the last decade has contributed towards the emergence of larger players that have differentiated themselves through superior execution and branding. These players have been able to capitalize on their early mover advantage with high market shares, though generally they remain confined to local or regional markets. While the larger regional players are now initiating efforts to develop a broader geographic presence, their home markets continue to generate a majority of their profitability.

- Local knowledge is critical to successful development: The property sector is generally regulated at the state level. As a result, the rules and regulations that impact, among other things, approval processes and transaction costs, vary from state to state. Also, real estate is dramatically affected by the condition of the geographic area surrounding the property which makes local knowledge essential for development.
- High transaction costs: The real estate sector has traditionally been burdened with high transaction costs as a result of stamp duty payable on transfers of title to property, the amount of which varies from state to state. Although the range and availability of financing products has been improving in recent years, transaction costs are often increased further by limited access to formal funding and the corresponding dependence on informal, high-cost sources for funding.
- Enhanced role of mortgage financing: Over the past few years, a significant portion of new real estate purchases in India, particularly in the larger cities, have been financed through banks and financial institutions. This has been aided by a decline in interest rates and the broader availability of financing products, generally due to aggressive marketing and product development by financial institutions.
- Lack of clarity in land title: A significant number of land plots in India do not have clear title because of disorganized land registries, a problem which is compounded by judicial delays in resolving ownership issues. Moreover, the transfer of land is subject to “caveat emptor” rules, which place the burden on the buyer to insure there are no defects in title prior to purchase. Finally, most land is held by individuals and families, which further obscures title to land.
- Sector governance issues: As a result of high transaction costs, real estate transactions in India often require large amounts of cash and lead to efforts to avoid taxes by using inefficient business structuring. In addition, the complex regulatory conditions and lack of clarity in land titles lead to a greater risk that real estate participants will try to improperly influence government officials.

All controllable reasons require prior approval from the Exchange, while force-majeure will be applicable for non controllable reasons. The decision of the Exchange for deciding controllable and non-controllable reasons would be final.
10. The Market Maker(s) shall have the right to terminate said arrangement by giving a six months notice or on mutually acceptable terms to the Merchant Banker, who shall then be responsible to appoint a replacement Market Maker(s).

Industry Overview

The real estate sector in India is at a crucial juncture of its evolution. While a significantly large portion of the industry is still dominated by unorganized and marginal players; there has been a consistent rise in share of organized players with number of listed companies growing over the recent years. Arrival of foreign direct investment, spreading national or regional footprints of organized players from their traditional city or region of dominance, development breaching the confinement of metropolitan cities to get reach tier I and tier II cities, rise of commercial and retail segments together with already residential segment, and fast emergence of holiday or second home as a category have contributed to a faster transformation of real estate sector in India over the past decade.

Setting aside the small portion that hospitality segment constitutes, the real estate sector in India can be classified across Residential Segment, Commercial Segment and Retail Segment. On the one hand real estate sector has ridden the wave of India's economic transformation in the 21st century to grow to its current stature. Yet at the other hand, it has made a three pronged contribution in strengthening India's economic progress. Firstly by raising its direct contribution to a significant 4-5% of country's GDP, then by helping the financial sector grow its revenues and earnings from home loan products, and finally by adding to the overall wealth creation at the level of its citizens. Besides these, it has also helped in creating millions of direct and indirect jobs in the country.

Having witnessed accelerated growth between 2003 and 2008, the real estate sector in India was hit hard by the financial crisis of 2008-09. Having recovered from sudden jolt, the sector has fast consolidated itself since then. Being a capital intensive sector; access to and cost of funds plays a significant role for the sellers as well as the buyers. For the sector, not only has the cost of funding increased but also access to debt and equity funds have got measured in the recent times. Last year RBI had increased the standard asset provisioning by commercial banks for teaser home loans from 0.4 % to 2%, capped the loan to value (LTV) ratio to 80% and increased the risk weight on loans of more than ₹ 75 lacs to above 125%. On equity side also the funds availability was limited.

Overview of the Indian Economy

India is the fourth largest economy in the world after the European Union, United States of America and China in purchasing power parity terms, with an estimated Gross Domestic Product ("GDP") (purchasing power parity) of U.S.$ 4.46 trillion in 2011 (Source: CIA World Factbook 2011). India rebounded from the global financial crisis, largely because of strong fundamentals and robust banking policies, posting a GDP growth of 7.8% in 2011. India is developing into an open-market economy, yet traces of its past autarkic policies remain. Economic liberalization, including industrial deregulation, privatization of state-owned enterprises, and reduced controls on foreign trade and investment, began in the early 1990s and has served to accelerate the country's growth, which has averaged more than 7% per year since 1997.

The Indian economy has witnessed robust growth in the last few years and is expected to be one of the fastest growing economies in the coming years. Demand for commercial property is being driven by India's economic growth. Real estate in India contributes about 5 per cent to India's gross domestic product (GDP). The total revenue generated from the real estate sector in 2010-11 stood at US$ 66.8 billion.

Demand is expected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 19 per cent between 2010 and 2014, with tier I metropolitan cities projected to account for about 40 per cent of this. Growing infrastructure requirements from sectors such as education, healthcare and tourism are also providing opportunities in the real estate sector.

Urban population has been increasing and is expected to cross 590 million by 2030. Urbanisation and increasing household income are some of the major factors that influence demand for residential real estate and growth in the retail sector.

Interest from international real estate investors in Indian real estate has been limited in 2012. India has witnessed 6% q-o-q growth in direct commercial real estate in Q1 2012, as compared to China which has seen negative growth of -45%, however China performed better in Q2 2012 on the back of one mega deal. In Brazil, investment volumes seem to be reaching a more 'normalised', sustainable pace following the supercharged 2010 2011 period.

Broadly, India has seen roughly 18 Billion US$ being invested in RE over the past 7 years. With 3.4 Billion US$ of exits, Indian real estate performance has not seen exciting for the foreign investor with average multiple of 1.25. However, India remains an attractive investment opportunity and foreign investors are definitely still participating in situations that offer higher risk adjusted returns like buying stabilized leased assets and providing receivable-based 'mezz' financing against housing sales. Also, foreign investors are looking at putting capital behind successful investment managers and are many also directly investing in India on a selective basis.

Real Estate Industry Background

Real estate tends to be a particularly cyclical industry, going up and down based on trends in the economy at large such as the fluctuation in interest rates. The story of real estate often mirrors the general story of the American economy. Real estate soared in the post-World War II 1950s, sank in the 1970s, rose again in the early 1980s until the depression at the end of that decade, and was prosperous again at the end of the 1990s. Because of low interest rates in the mid-2000s, residential real estate was booming even when the economy was slow until the mortgage crisis hit and the bubble collapsed. After that point it sank and as of 2011 has yet to truly recover. Brokerage firms have taken on property management divisions in order to diversify their revenue streams and combat poor economic climates.

The real estate industry consists of three primary fields: brokerages, leasing, and management. Brokers bring together buyers and sellers of property, assist in the price negotiations and arrange the steps between a buyer first taking interest in a property and closing, including appraisals and inspections. Generally, the seller pays a commission, dependent on the sale price (usually 5 or 6 percent), and this is split between a broker working for the buyer and the broker working for the seller. Real estate brokers must be licensed in the state in which they work. Leasing brings together property owners with tenants, sometimes owning that property themselves, or subleasing property they have leased from someone else. Management companies are responsible for making sure their buildings are filled with tenants, deciding what to charge these tenants, making sure the buildings run properly, paying utilities, hiring staff and other maintenance for owners who do not want to manage buildings themselves. Since most property expenses are fixed, maintaining low vacancy rates is critical to management companies. In particular, property management has been a fast growing field and should continue in its expansion, as commercial and residential properties that were overbuilt during the real estate boom will continue to need management until they are sold.

Residential Segment:

Favorable demographics of the country have led to a healthy growth of real estate market in the residential sector. Improving socio-economic factors are leading to a consistent fall in the average age of ownership of the first house and consistent increase in the number of house owned. The rising demand and limited availability of the dwelling units within the city limits will continue and the same would result in higher prices of residential real estate. A recent study by CRISIL estimates the overall housing shortage in India to reach 75.5 million units by the end of 2014 and suggests the housing prices to consolidate between 2010 and 2014 period.

Source: http://www.nhb.org.in/Residex/Data&Graphs.ph

During the financial year 2011-12, led by hardening of interest rate, macro uncertainties and sharp increase in capital value of residential units post 2008-09 financial crisis slowed down the demand momentum in most cities. Despite that, the capital value of residential market in most cities continued to remain stable with a positive bias. While in cities like Bangalore and Hyderabad the prices are still at or below the 2007 level, in most other cities prices have more than doubled during the same period.

Commercial Space:

The commercial office space in India has fast evolved over recent years with the emergence of India as an IT/ITeS hub. As shown in the graph below, the demand of commercial real estate has been driven largely by services sectors.

Source: Real Estate Intelligence Service (JLL), 4Q11

During 2011 while the new completion increased by 9.1% to 44.5 msf, the demand grew by 20.3% to 36.7 msf. As per JLL report, in 2012 while the new completion would increase by 20%, the demand would contract by 7%, driving vacancy rates further up.

According to CRISIL Research in 2010, commercial office lease rentals may show an additional correction of another 3-10% in most of micro markets primarily due to the considerable oversupply across cities and lack of adequate demand.

Retail:

Organized retail penetration has grown to about 5.6 % in 2009-10, which is further expected to increase to about 7.3 % by 2012-13, according to a CRISIL report for real estate. In the past few years, India's organized retail industry has posted high growth rates giving improvement in key driving factors namely, lavish lifestyles and high disposable incomes. The US-based global management consulting firm, A T Kearney, in its Global Retail Development Index (GRDI) 2011, has ranked India as the fourth most attractive nation for retail investment, among 30 emerging markets.

After growing at high rate over the last decade, the organized retail industry in India witnessed a sudden slowdown in investments after financial crisis in 2008- 09 which led to large build up in supply. During 2011, fresh completion doubled to 13.8 msf and absorption increased by over 140% to 9.7 msf. This also led to further increase in vacancy rate. As per JLL report in 2012 the demand is expected to slow down to 8 msf. Going forward, due to weak demand environment and lack of any evident demand trigger, the lease rentals are expected to remain under pressure.

The absence of a clear approval towards FDI in multibrand retail segment has also played a key role in disturbing the demand-supply curve, as fresh demand has slowed down. Corrective measures such as reforms from government and right pricing of lease rentals & selling prices may help in due course of time.

Market Size

The Indian real estate market size is expected to touch US$ 180 billion by 2020. Demand for residential, commercial and retail real estate is rising throughout India, accompanied by increased demand for hotel accommodation and improved infrastructure. Growth prospects and price stability of smaller cities are attracting large real estate developers in such cities in the recent past, according to a report titled 'Real(i)ty Next: Beyond the Top 10 Cities of India', released by CRISIL. The report estimates that the sale of new residential apartments in 10 such smaller cities are at around US$ 4 billion in 2012.

Investments

Non-resident Indians (NRIs) are looking forward for investment in Indian real estate with the dollar appreciating in value compared to the rupee in the recent times. Foreign direct investment (FDI) inflows in real estate in 2011-12 (April-January) stood at Rs 2,750 Crore (US$ 499.59 million). In fact, FDI in the sector is expected to increase to US$ 25 billion in the next 10 years, as per a latest industry body report.

Construction development sector (including townships, housing, built-up infrastructure) has attracted a cumulative FDI worth US$ 21.1 billion from April 2000 to June 2012. FDI flows into the sector for the period April-June 2012-13 stood at US$ 348 million, according to the Department of Industrial Policy and Promotion (DIPP).

India needs to invest US$ 1.2 trillion over next 20 years to modernise urban infrastructure and keep pace with the growing urbanisation, as per a report released by McKinsey Global Institute (MGI)-India's urban awakening.

Indian real estate emerged as the popular sector for private equity (PE) funds, investing around US$ 1,700 million in this sector during 2011. PE in real estate projects will fetch considerable returns by next year (2013), according to Vikram Hosangady, Partner, KPMG

Some of the major investments in the Indian real estate sector are:

- Realty firm Avalon Group to invest Rs 200 crore (US$ 36.32 million) to develop a group housing project at Bhiwadi in Rajasthan. The company would develop 800 housing units in the 12-acre project 'Avalon Regal Court'
- Canada-based NRI billionaire Bob Dhillon is considering investing up to US$ 100 million (about Rs 540 crore) in the Indian real estate market and is planning to approach the Haryana Government for developing a township near Chandigarh
- Sahara India has set up a construction joint venture with 110-year-old American real estate company Turner Construction Co, a subsidiary of German construction group Hochtief, and the Acropolis Capital Group, a special situation investment and development firm. The JV Company will build integrated townships called Sahara City Homes and other Sahara India projects in India worth US$ 25 billion over the next 20 years
- Berggruen Hotels, a mid-market business hotel chain funded by US-based Berggruen Holdings, plans to double its room inventory and invest at least Rs 450 Crore (US$ 81.72 million) in new projects across the country. The company operates under the brand Keys Hotels and aims to add 2,300 rooms over the next 18-24 months
- Kotak Realty Fund, the real estate private equity fund of Kotak Mahindra Group, has entered into a joint venture with Chennai-based Akshaya Homes for construction of residential units on a 20-acre plot of Chennai's Old Mahabalipuram road

Government Initiatives

The Government of India has allowed FDI up to 100 per cent under the automatic route in townships, housing, built-up infrastructure and construction development projects to increase investment, generate economic activity, create new employment opportunities and add to the available housing stock and built-up infrastructure.

The Union Budget 2012-13 gives major thrust on accelerating the pace of investment in infrastructure, as this is critical for sustaining and accelerating an overall growth. Efforts to attract private investment into infrastructure through the Public-Private Partnership (PPP) route have met with considerable success at both Central Government and State Government levels.

In the Union Budget 2012-13, Rs 10,000 Crore (US$ 1.82 billion) is allocated for the development of National Highways. In the next five years, the total investments in the real estate will be US$ 1 trillion.

Government of Gujarat plans to build a 600-hectare township near the proposed Maruti Suzuki India Ltd.'s (MSIL) manufacturing factory in Hansalpur near Mehsana. The cost of development is estimated to be about Rs 80 lac (US$ 145301) to Rs 1 Crore (US$ 181672) per hectare.

Current State of the Real Estate Industry in 2012

In 2010, there were 517,800 brokers working in the United States, 59 percent of whom were self-employed. The industry is divided into residential and commercial real estate services, although some brokerages and management companies engage in both. The residential real estate industry is quite fragmented. The fifty largest companies make up less than thirty percent of the industry's total revenue. Of the three primary areas, brokerage services compose 45 percent of the industry's total revenue, leasing residential units make up 35 percent and property management makes up fifteen percent.

Since the collapse of the housing bubble, residential real estate revenue is still in the pits and unemployment has remained high. Some predict that when jobs come back en masse, residential real estate success will follow. The commercial industry is highly fragmented as well. The fifty largest companies make up one third of total revenue. The commercial segment of the industry has fared slightly better than the residential segment since the recession. While it has not yet reaching the peaks of 2006 before the fall, analysts predict that the market bottomed out in 2010 and expect it to rebound somewhat in 2011.

Real Estate Industry Future

Real estate plays an important role in the Indian economy. This sector happens to be the second largest employer after agriculture and is expected to grow at the rate of 30 per cent over the next decade. The real estate sector in India is ready to take a big leap in the coming years. Since 2010, the residential sector has been on a strong growth trajectory and with increasing urbanisation the momentum is expected to continue. Strong demographic mix and increasing salary levels will be the key triggers for growth of the residential market in 2012.

Emergence of nuclear families and growing urbanisation has given rise to several townships that are developed to take care of the elderly. With a number of senior citizen housing projects been planned, the segment is expected to grow significantly in the future. Increase in the number of tourists has resulted in demand for service apartments. This demand is likely to be on uptrend and presents opportunities for the unorganised sector. The number of hotel beds in the country is expected to increase to 461,000 by 2015 from the current capacity of 235,000.

Potential obstacles for the industry include factors beyond the control of the business owner, such as downturns in the local or national economy, as well as changing neighborhood demographics where agencies are located. Also out of the owner's control is the building of properties, and what properties in the area are available. For management companies, indoor air quality liability has become a serious legal issue in recent years. Removal of mold growth in particular has been increasingly necessary for property owners and managers.

The use of technology will continue to transform the field in the years ahead, enabling home buyers to research both properties and the areas in which they are located, including looking at pictures and finding out about the neighborhood's schools, crime rates and other statistics. Marketing over the internet with pictures of properties and virtual tours will be important for brokers. More than ninety percent of people use the internet before purchasing real estate. United States population growth will also be an important driving factor in the growth of the industry at large. The workforce is expected to grow fourteen percent between 2008 and 2018. The internet arguably may eliminate the need for brokers altogether in the future. Banks also represent a potential competitor. Recently they have been freed by rule changes to enter the commercial real estate field in a limited way, and it is possible to see future rule changes allowing them to enter the residential field. The biggest growth areas are expected to be in the southern half of the country, particularly in the southwest. A recent survey revealed the hottest buyer's market to be Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Even in spite of the poor economic conditions and the state of the industry, analysts are confident in the future growth in the industry. Brokers commissions are expected to grow at a compounded rate of fourteen percent annually from 2010 to 2015. The output of United States real estate businesses is expected to grow at an annually compounded rate of six percent between 2010 and 2015.

The Challenges and Outlook for Indian Realty

The challenges that I see for Indian real estate, now and in the near future, are the expensiveness of liquidity for real estate, the lack of availability of serviced urban land, continuing procedural delays in approvals, the slow pace of infrastructural growth and the fact that the country still has relatively low transparency in real estate terms.

In terms of commercial real estate outlook, there has been a demand contraction of about 15% with reference to absorption in 2011. We expect an supply correction for 2013 and 2014, but supply for 2012 is by and large on track. The market will continue to be under stress for another four quarters, with vacancies going up, but rents are unlikely to fall further as they are already at the bottom.

In retail real estate, we are seeing a process of polarization - superior malls are with low vacancy and high rents, while inferior malls are failing to lease despite heavy rental discounts. Many new malls that are now completed or are under construction are superior, which is a definite sign of the market maturing.

The Indian residential property market is behaving like a swinging pendulum. Sale velocity has been rising and falling over the last two or three quarters, and now capital values are going up because of increased input costs. I can see a definite slowdown in new launches already, and this is likely to continue for the interim.

Key business processes for real estate development

A. Identification Process

Land identification at reasonable pricing and strategic locations is a key factor for the success of our business. We undertake research for our projects prior to making any decisions to acquire or develop any of the properties. We do our in-house market research, wherein we gather relevant market data; assess the potential of a location after evaluating its demographic trends and identifying relevant government schemes and incentives.

B. Land Acquisition and/or Development Arrangements

Once the requisite knowledge of land title is obtained, based on feasibility, we either acquire the land on an outright basis or enter into a development agreement or other arrangements with the owners. Negotiations are undertaken, which involve total consideration, the type of agreement and the fulfillment of other statutory formalities such as pending litigations on the property

C. Project Planning, Regulatory Approvals

The project planning and execution process commences with obtaining the requisite regulatory approvals, environmental clearances and location specific approvals. While evaluating the feasibility of an area for the implementation of a project, it is critical to understand and comply with the regulations governing land development at the location. The approvals generally required for the development of a property include change of land use, approvals of building plans, layouts and infrastructure facilities such as power and water. Similarly, approvals from various government authorities, including from the relevant environmental authorities, airport authorities and fire authorities are required for buildings above a stipulated height. Building completion or occupation certificates are obtained from the appropriate authorities after the construction of properties is completed, in accordance with applicable law.

D. Construction

For our project execution, we rely primarily on external contractors for the construction of our properties. Our execution process team has developed relationships with third-party contractors and suppliers through working on multiple projects, which we utilize for our projects. We believe that by outsourcing our construction work, we can more effectively compete in our core business of real estate development.

E. Sales and Marketing

We use a mix of sales and marketing strategies to market our projects depending on whether the project is a residential or commercial project.

We plan to utilize domestic sales agents and international property consultants to market our properties.

Collaborations

The Company has so far not entered into any technical or financial collaboration agreement.

Competition

The real estate market is highly competitive and fragmented, and we face competition from various domestic real estate developers. Some of our competitors have greater financial, marketing, sales and other resources than we do. Moreover, as we seek to diversify into new geographical areas, we face competition from competitors that have a pan-India presence and also from competitors that have a strong presence in regional markets. Competitive overbuilding in certain markets may have a material adverse effect on our operations in that market.

Export possibility and obligation

Our Company doesn't have any export obligation as we are not exporting any material.

KEY INDUSTRY REGULATIONS AND POLICIES

The following description is a summary of the relevant regulations and policies as prescribed by the Government of India, Government of Maharashtra and the respective bye laws framed by the local bodies in Mumbai, and others incorporated under the laws of India.

The information detailed in this chapter has been obtained from the various legislations and the bye laws of the respective local authorities that are available in the public domain. The regulations and policies set out below are not exhaustive and are only intended to provide general information to the investors and are neither designed nor intended to be a substitute for professional advice.

We are primarily engaged in the business of real estate development. We undertake development of residential, commercial, office use, retail and mixed-use projects.

Additionally, our projects require, at various stages, the sanction of the concerned authorities under the relevant Central and State legislations and local byelaws. The following is an overview of some of the important laws and regulations, which are relevant to our business.

PROPERTY RELATED LAWS:

CENTRAL LAWS

Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (“LA Act”)

The Gol and the state governments are empowered to acquire and take possession of any property for public purpose, however, the courts in India have, through numerous decisions stipulated that any property acquired by the government must satisfy the due process of law. The key legislation relating to the expropriation of property is the LA Act. Under the provisions of the LA Act, land in any locality can be acquired compulsorily by the government whenever it appears to the government that it is needed or is likely to be needed for any public purpose or for use by a corporate body. Under the LA Act, the term “public purpose” has been defined to include, among other things:

- the provision of village sites, or the extension, planned development or improvement of existing village sites;
- the provision of land for town or rural planning;
- the provision of land for its planned development from public funds in pursuance of any scheme or policy of government and subsequent disposal thereof in whole or in part by lease, assignment or outright sale with the object of securing further development as planned;
- the provision of land for any other scheme of development sponsored by government, or, with the prior approval of the appropriate government, by a local authority; and
- the provision of any premises or building for locating a public office, but does not include acquisition of land for companies.

The LA Act lays down the procedures which are required to be compulsorily followed by the Gol or any of the state governments, during the process of acquisition of land under the LA Act. The procedure for acquisition, as mentioned in the LA Act, can be summarised as follows:

- identification of land;
- notification of land;
- declaration of land;
- acquisition of land; and
- payment and ownership of land.

Any person having an interest in such land has the right to object and the right to receive compensation. The value of compensation for the property acquired depends on several factors, which, among other things, include the market value of the land and damage sustained by the person in terms of loss of profits. Such a person has the right to approach the courts. However, the only objection that the land owner can raise in respect of land acquisition is in relation to the amount of compensation. The land owner cannot challenge the acquisition of land once the declaration under the LA Act is notified in the Official Gazette.

Laws regulating transfer of property:

Transfer of Property Act, 1882

The Transfer of Property Act, 1882 (the “TP Act”) establishes the general principles relating to transfer of property in India. It forms a basis for identifying the categories of property that are capable of being transferred, the persons competent to transfer property, the validity of restrictions and conditions imposed on the transfer and the creation of contingent and vested interest in the property. The TP Act also provides for the rights and liabilities of the vendor and purchaser in a transaction of sale of land.

Registration Act, 1908

The Registration Act, 1908 (the “Registration Act”) has been enacted with the objective of providing public notice of the execution of documents affecting, inter alia, the transfer of interest in immovable property. The purpose of the Registration Act is the conservation of evidence, assurances, title and publication of documents and prevention of fraud. It details the formalities for registering an instrument. Section 17 of the Registration Act identifies documents for which registration is compulsory and includes, among other things, any non-testamentary instrument which purports or operates to create, declare, assign, limit or extinguish, whether in present or in future, any right, title or interest, whether vested or contingent, 110 in any immovable property of the value of one hundred rupees or more, and a lease of immovable property for any term exceeding one year or reserving a yearly rent. A document will not affect the property comprised in it, nor be treated as evidence of any transaction affecting such property (except as evidence of a contract in a suit for specific performance or as evidence of part performance under the T.P. Act or as collateral), unless it has been registered. Evidence of registration is normally available through an inspection of the relevant land records, which usually contains details of the registered property. Further, registration of a document does not guarantee title of land.

The Indian Stamp Act, 1899

Under the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 (the “Stamp Act”) stamp duty is payable on instruments evidencing a transfer or creation or extinguishment of any right, title or interest in immovable property. Stamp duty must be paid on all instruments specified under the Stamp Act at the rates specified in the schedules to the Stamp Act. The applicable rates for stamp duty on instruments chargeable with duty vary from state to state. Instruments chargeable to duty under the Stamp Act, which are not duly stamped are incapable of being admitted in court as evidence of the transaction contained therein and it also provides for impounding of instruments that are not sufficiently stamped or not stamped at all.

The Indian Easements Act, 1882

An easement is a right which the owner or occupier of land possesses for the beneficial enjoyment of that land and which permits him to do or to prevent something from being done, in or upon, other land not his own. Under the Indian Easements Act, 1882, a license is defined as a right to use property without any interest in favour of the lessee. The period and incident may be revoked may be provided in the license agreement entered in between the licensee and the licensor. Laws for classification of land user Usually, land is broadly classified under one or more categories such as residential, commercial or agricultural. Land classified under a specified category is permitted to be used only for such specified purpose. Where the land is originally classified as agricultural land, in order to use the land for any other purpose the classification of the land is required to be converted into residential, commercial or industrial purpose, by making an application to the relevant municipal or town and country planning authorities. In addition, some State Governments have imposed various restrictions, which vary from state to state, on the transfer of property within such states.

Building Consents

Each state and city has its own set of laws, which govern planned development and rules for construction (such as floor area ratio or floor space index limits). The various authorities that govern building activities in states are the town and country planning department, municipal corporations and the urban arts commission. The municipal authorities regulate building development and construction norms. The Urban Arts Commission advises the relevant State Government in the matter of preserving, developing and maintaining the aesthetic quality of urban and environmental design in some states and also provides advice and guidance to any local body with respect to building or engineering operations or any development proposal which affects or is likely to affect the skyline or the aesthetic quality of the surroundings or any public amenity provided therein. Under certain State laws, the local body, before it accords its approval for building operations, engineering operations or development proposals, is obliged to refer all such operations to the Urban Arts Commission and seek its approval for the project. Additionally, certain approvals and consents may also be required from various other departments such as the fire department, the Airports Authority of India and the Archaeological Survey of India.

Special Economic Zones, Act, 2005 and the Special Economic Zones Rules, 2006

Special Economic Zones (“SEZ”) are regulated and governed by the Special Economic Zone Act, 2005 (the “SEZ Act”) which came into force on February 10, 2006. The SEZ Act provides that the Government of India, any State Government or any person either may, jointly or severally, establish a SEZ in accordance with the procedure under the SEZ Act. SEZs are specifically delineated duty free enclaves deemed to be foreign territories for purposes of Indian custom controls, duties and tariffs. Any person who intends to set up a SEZ after identification of the area, is required to make an application to the Board of Approval of the concerned State Government for approval. The developer of the SEZ is required to take effective steps for implementation of the SEZ project within the said validity period. The developer is required to furnish intimation of fulfilment of conditions specified in the „in-principle“ approval to the Department of Commerce, the Ministry of Commerce and Industry and the Government of India (the “DoC”) within the specified validity period of the „in-principle“ approval. The DoC, on being satisfied with the proposal and compliance of the developer with the terms of the approval, issues a notification declaring the specified area as an SEZ.

The incentives and facilities offered to developers of SEZ include:

- Single window clearance for Central and State level approvals;
- Exemption from dividend distribution tax; service tax and minimum alternate tax;

The Special Economic Zone Rules, 2006 have been enacted to effectively implement the provisions of the SEZ Act. The SEZ Rules also prescribe the procedure for the operation and maintenance of an SEZ, for setting up and conducting business therein, with an emphasis on „self certification“, and the terms and conditions subject to which the entrepreneur and developer shall be entitled to exemptions, drawbacks and concessions etc. The SEZ Rules also provide for the minimum area requirement for various categories of SEZs. Various states have their own state SEZ policies.

Industrial Parks

Industrial parks are industrial model towns/industrial parks for carrying out integrated manufacturing activities (including common facilities, such as roads, power, water, drainage and telecommunications within its precincts) and research and development. Industrial parks enjoy certain tax benefits and can be established under a scheme pursuant to Notification S.O. 354 (E) dated April 1, 2002 by the DIPPP, Ministry of Commerce and Industry, Government of India. Any undertaking which develops, develops and operates or maintains and operates an industrial park is required to make an application in a prescribed form to the Secretary, Central Board of Direct Taxes following which the Central Board of Direct Taxes notifies the undertaking and the industrial park under section 80-IA of the I.T. Act. Proposals to establish industrial parks which meet the criteria set out in the Industrial Park Scheme (such as minimum land area to be developed, minimum percentage of area to be allocated for industrial use, approval for FDI or non resident Indian investment from the FIPB or any authority specified under any law for the time being in force, as the case may be etc.) are accorded automatic government approval by the Secretariat of Industrial Approvals. Proposals not meeting such parameters require the prior sanction of the „Empowered Committee“ set up by the DIPPP. The Industrial Park Scheme, 2008 (the “IP Scheme 2008”) has been framed by the Central Government for industrial parks established on or after April 1, 2006 and before March 31, 2009. Under the IP Scheme 2008, an industrial park means a project in which plots of developed space or built up space or a combination, with common facilities and quality infrastructure facilities, is developed and made available to the units for the purposes of industrial activities or commercial activities. A tax holiday is available for undertakings which develop, develop and operate and operate or maintain and operate an industrial park for a continuous period of 10 years in relation to the profits and gains derived by the undertakings from its activities, subject to the satisfaction of certain conditions. The undertaking to be considered for such tax benefits is required to fulfil certain conditions, inter alia the date of commencement of the industrial park should be on or after April 1, 2006 and not later than March 31, 2009. The IP Scheme 2008 was amended vide the Industrial Park (Amendment) Scheme, 2008 notified on July 2, 2008.

Modes of Acquisition of Interest and Development Rights in Property

Due to the constraints under the laws prescribing a ceiling on the acquisition of land, a real estate development company may enter into a range of agreements in order to acquire interests in land. Brief details of the most common arrangements are provided herein below:

▫ Agreements for acquisition of land - A company enters into agreements with third parties which may be in the form of an agreement to sell or a memorandum of understanding for the acquisition of land and pooling of land resources, for the purpose of the development of specified projects such as integrated townships. Under such agreements, the contracting parties agree to acquire land in certain areas selected by a company which agrees to provide an interest-free fund to such contracting parties for meeting the costs of the acquisitions. Further, the contracting parties are required to pool the acquired land with the land owned by a company and deliver possession of the same to our Company for the purpose of developing the project. Typically, a company is free to develop the land at its discretion and is also authorised to develop, market and sell the project at its own cost, risk and expense.

- Sole development agreements - A company enters into development agreements (“DA”) with the title holders of land for acquiring sole development rights. Typically, under the terms of the DA, whilst the title owner may continue to own the land, the company is entitled to sole development rights in the project and can sell units in the project and appropriate the receipt of the same at its sole discretion. For acquiring the sole development rights, generally a lump sum consideration is paid to the title holders of land.
- Joint development agreements - Another mode of acquiring land used by a company is to enter into joint development agreements (the “JDA”) with the title holders of land for joint development or development by the company of the real estate projects. The JDA may be in the form of a memorandum of understanding or a joint venture agreement. Under the terms of a JDA, a company may be authorised to develop, construct, finance and market the project on the relevant land.
- Public auctions and Government allotment - Various State Governments undertake large real estate development projects, for the purposes of which bids satisfying certain eligibility criteria (such as technical and financial criteria) are invited. After evaluation of the bids submitted by a company, the Government through the various regional bodies and local development authorities, selects the most eligible company for the development of the project and undertakes to grant certain rights for the purposes of a project such as a perpetual lease of the project land in favour of the company, subject to satisfaction of certain conditions. The governmental authority may grant such an undertaking in the form of a reservation-cum-allotment letter, the salient terms of which usually include among other things, the nature of allotment (such as lease and conveyance), the period of grant, the consideration for allotment and the payment schedule.

STATE LAWS

State legislations provide for the planned development of urban areas and the establishment of regional and local development authorities charged with the responsibility of planning and development of urban areas within their jurisdiction. Real estate projects have to be planned and developed in conformity with the norms established in these laws and regulations made there under and require sanctions from the government departments and developmental authorities at various stages.

Laws relating to employment

The employment of construction workers is regulated by a wide variety of generally applicable labour laws, including the Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970, the Minimum Wages Act, 1948, the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965, the Building and Other Construction Workers (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Act, 1996, the Payment of Wages Act, 1936 and Workmen (Regulation of Employment and Condition of Service) Act, 1979.

Environment Laws Environmental Regulation

The three major statutes in India which seek to regulate and protect the environment against pollution and related activities in India are the Water (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Act 1974, the Air (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Act, 1981 and the Environment Protection Act, 1986. The basic purpose of these statutes is to control, abate and prevent pollution. In order to achieve these objectives, Pollution Control Boards (“PCB”) which are vested with diverse powers to deal with water and air pollution, have been set up in each state. The PCBs are responsible for setting the standards for maintenance of clean air and water, directing the installation of pollution control devices in industries and undertaking investigations to ensure that industries are functioning in compliance with the standards prescribed. These authorities also have the power of search, seizure, and investigation if the authorities are aware of or suspect pollution. In addition, the Ministry of Environment and Forests looks into Environment Impact Assessment. The Ministry receives proposals for expansion, modernization and setting up of projects and the impact which such projects would have on the environment is assessed by the Ministry before granting clearances for the proposed projects.

OTHER APPLICABLE LAWS:

The Income Tax Act, 1961

In accordance with the Income Tax Act, 1961 any income earned by way of profits by a company incorporated in India is subject to tax levied on it in accordance with the tax rate as declared as part of the annual Finance Act.

The Companies Act, 1956

The Companies Act, 1956 deals with issue, allotment and transfer of securities and various aspects relating to company management. It provides for standard of disclosure in public issues of capital, particularly in the fields of company management and projects, information about other listed companies under the same management, and management perception of risk factors. It also regulates underwriting, the use of premium and discounts on issues, rights and bonus issues, payment of interest and dividends, supply of annual report and other information.

Industry Overview

The real estate sector in India is at a crucial juncture of its evolution. While a significantly large portion of the industry is still dominated by unorganized and marginal players; there has been a consistent rise in share of organized players with number of listed companies growing over the recent years. Arrival of foreign direct investment, spreading national or regional footprints of organized players from their traditional city or region of dominance, development breaching the confinement of metropolitan cities to get reach tier I and tier II cities, rise of commercial and retail segments together with already residential segment, and fast emergence of holiday or second home as a category have contributed to a faster transformation of real estate sector in India over the past decade.

Setting aside the small portion that hospitality segment constitutes, the real estate sector in India can be classified across Residential Segment, Commercial Segment and Retail Segment. On the one hand real estate sector has ridden the wave of India's economic transformation in the 21st century to grow to its current stature. Yet at the other hand, it has made a three pronged contribution in strengthening India's economic progress. Firstly by raising its direct contribution to a significant 4-5% of country's GDP, then by helping the financial sector grow its revenues and earnings from home loan products, and finally by adding to the overall wealth creation at the level of its citizens. Besides these, it has also helped in creating millions of direct and indirect jobs in the country.

Having witnessed accelerated growth between 2003 and 2008, the real estate sector in India was hit hard by the financial crisis of 2008-09. Having recovered from sudden jolt, the sector has fast consolidated itself since then. Being a capital intensive sector; access to and cost of funds plays a significant role for the sellers as well as the buyers. For the sector, not only has the cost of funding increased but also access to debt and equity funds have got measured in the recent times. Last year RBI had increased the standard asset provisioning by commercial banks for teaser home loans from 0.4 % to 2%, capped the loan to value (LTV) ratio to 80% and increased the risk weight on loans of more than ₹ 75 lacs to above 125%. On equity side also the funds availability was limited

Transfers of equity shares previously required the prior approval of the FIPB. However, vide a RBI circular dated October 4, 2004 issued by the RBI, the transfer of shares between an Indian resident and a non-resident does not require the prior approval of the FIPB or the RBI, provided that (i) the activities of the investee company are under the automatic route under the foreign direct investment (FDI) Policy and transfer does not attract the provisions of the SEBI (Substantial Acquisition of Shares and Takeovers) Regulations, 2011 (ii) the non-resident shareholding is within the sectoral limits under the FDI policy, and (iii) the pricing is in accordance with the guidelines prescribed by the SEBI/RBI.
